

MUSCLE GROWTH REGULATOR

Abstract

A muscle growth regulating factor includes polynucleotide and polypeptide sequences, promoter sequences, constructs comprising the sequences, and compositions for regulating muscle growth and treating diseases associated with muscle growth. The present sequences can be used in identifying animals with altered muscle mass, and for selective breeding programs to produce animals with altered muscle mass.